

MUST RECRUIT GUARD UNITS IN A FEW DAYS

Major Bell Issues Call for Young Men to Join Local Companies Before State Enactment.

HARD TRAINING IS CUT OUT

"More Like a Vacation Than Military Program," Says Adjutant General in Issuing Invitation to Enlist.

Unless Tulsa's four companies of the national guard are enlisted to minimum peace strength within the next 10 days, it is probable that the city will lose one and possibly all of its national guard units. Major James A. Bell, commanding the second and portion of third infantry of the Oklahoma national guard, announced Wednesday night. At present all of Tulsa's units are far below the minimum strength prescribed by the war department and must be increased before the opening of the national guard camp at Ft. Sill on August 20, to the grid of the First Presbyterian church, of which she is president.

We all realize that the national guard must be maintained," Major Bell said. "And to maintain it we must have maximum strength at all times. Tulsa's units are fallen below the minimum prescribed, and if we do not increase the membership materially within the next 10 days, Tulsa stands a good chance to lose one and possibly all her national guard units. We cannot be sure that the Tulsa spirit in the young men of Tulsa will let them fail. We must have more enlisting and we must get them mighty quick. It seems to me that any young man who has had some training would be glad to come to our one year period and help us get Tulsa's units thoroughly started."

The business men of Tulsa are going to build us an armory when we return from camp. They are going to spend their good money to make the armory a success. The young men should give a small amount of their time and especially as the government is paying for it.

"I want to state on the authority of the adjutant general for the benefit of all ex-service men that this camp will be more like a picnic than a hard-hitting training school during the war. This is more of a school for the boys with the strenuous training cut out.

Of course we will have military training, but not of the kind that has been the men. Fully half of the work periods will be on the rifle ranges in practice."

MALESTER LABOR UNIONS FIGHT CITIZENS' TICKET

Special to The World.

MALESTER, Aug. 6.—W. C. Tippitt, a railroad man, was named as labor's candidate for a place on the city commission at a meeting held here last night. All crafts in the city were represented, the purpose being to oppose Tippitt against the citizens' ticket, headed by a fusion of republicans and democrats, because labor was not represented.

The union move followed the withdrawal of two men from the citizens' ticket, Sam Morley, proposed for mayor, because he is ineligible under the clause requiring residence here two years, and Dr. O. Grubbs, who refused to permit his name to be placed on any but a democratic party ticket.

MUNICIPAL TEAM WORK SHOWN

Police, Fire and Health Departments Settle Family Scrap.

Special to The World.

MALESTER, Aug. 6.—It took the police, fire and health departments to compromise a family scrap which started here Sunday, when Edwin Elster started to beat up his wife and his stepson, Frank Jamieson.

The police did their "bit" by arresting the two fighters. The fire department helped the cause by responding to a false alarm call turned in by Ed Stewart, "friend of the family." Dr. W. C. Graves, city physician, consented to sewing up a split in Elster's lip, setting 200 silk stitches in Elster's arm, cut a gash when he broke a window, to reach a telephone for reporting the "fire."

The "Cedar" switchboard is in actual operation. This makes it necessary to give prefix "Osage" or "Cedar" as shown in new directory, when placing call.—Advt.

Resources of Oklahoma to be Exploited in Booklets

C. H. Douglas, general secretary of the chamber of commerce of Oklahoma City where he presided over the quarterly meeting of the Oklahoma Association of Commercial Secretaries and assisted in welcoming to Oklahoma, Gen. Leonard Wood, who was entertained by the capital city Tuesday.

Secretary Douglas was a guest at a banquet given by Gen. Hoy Hoffman in honor of General Wood. General Wood was en route to Santa Fe, N. M., and stopped off at the capital at special invitation from Hoffman. According to Douglas, automobile parties and formal and informal receptions featured the day with Governor Robertson taking a leading part.

The Oklahoma Association of Commercial Secretaries is to spend $10,000 on a publication which is to advertise the resources developed and undeveloped, and the possibilities of Oklahoma, from Oklahoma City where he presided over the quarterly meeting of the Oklahoma Association of Commercial Secretaries and assisted in welcoming to Oklahoma, Gen. Secretary Douglas believes the book, the title of which will probably be "The Possibilities of Oklahoma," will be a great boon to the state. Twelve new secretaries were accepted into the association at the Oklahoma City meeting and papers of incorporation were drawn up.

BLACKSMITHS' STRIKE IS SETTLED, HUBBARD SAYS

Major C. H. Hubbard stated Wednesday afternoon that the terms recommended by the arbitration board, of which he was chairman, as a basis for settlement between the employees and employers involved in the local blacks' strike, and was accepted by both factions are apparently satisfied.

The arbitration board recommended a nine-hour day, with wages for blacksmiths at 20 cents an hour and wages for helpers and other assistant workers ranging down to 45 cents, representing the high and low points of the wage scale. All further difficulties are to be arbitrated by board of employees and employers.

Under the demands of the blacksmiths the terms recommended by the board are said to grant the highest wage scale in force in the south west for blacksmiths and helpers.

Although the miners were at work it was with the understanding that they worked under normal conditions only until recommendation of the board had been accepted.
